

Space Station Fluids and Combustion Facility

A modular, multi-user facility to accommodate microgravity fluid physics and combustion science space experiments on board the United States Laboratory Module of the International Space Station